Clarification for the Stranded people in Paro

1. For Paro, the existing restrictions will prevail. This is due to sporadic cases being detected from the communities.

Continuing with the restrictions will also help avoid the anticipated spike other countries have experienced after about second week of lockdown lift.

2. Additional relaxations will be announced as situations improve, and intervals between the detection of positive cases widen.

3. However, travel of stranded people in Paro will be allowed beyond the emergency cases, and facilitated accordingly.

The stranded people have to register with 1060. Upon issuance of e-permit, the travellers have to visit the specified flu-clinic for testing. For Naja and Dogar Gewogs and lower Shaba, the mobile flu Clinic is set up at Thuenzhipangkha checkpoint (Dawakha). During the test, a member of the host family must accompany the traveller to rule out presence of disease in both the stranded person and the resident.

The information will then be shared to the local leaders of the destination dzongkhags through DHO. Upon reaching the destination, local authorities have to ensure the person undergoes mandatory 7-day home quarantine. After the completion of home quarantine, an antigen test will be carried out.
